PART VI

Double Taxation Relief

9. In this Part, the expression,

Interpretation.

- (a) "agreement" means an agreement of the type referred to in subsection (1) of section 83;
- (b) "designated income" means income subject to both income tax and foreign tax and that is designated in an agreement as income, the tax, on which is to be allowed as a credit against income tax;
- (c) "foreign tax" means the tax payable under the laws of a country or territory with which Barbados has made an agreement and that is to be allowed under the terms of the agreement as a credit against income tax; and
- (d) "income tax" means tax payable under the Act.

10. This Part applies where foreign tax of a person is to be allowed as a credit against the income tax of that person under an agreement.

Application.

11. No credit shall be allowed for an income year to a person who is a non-resident for that income year.

Non-residents.

12. The amount of the income tax chargeable in respect of the income shall be reduced by the amount of the credit.

Reduction of tax.

13. The credit shall not exceed the amount that would be the tax on the amount of the designated income if the designated income was calculated in accordance with the Act and if the designated income was charged to income tax at the rate obtained by dividing the income tax chargeable on the total assessable income, before allowance of credit in respect of double taxation, by the amount of the total assessable income.

Limit on credit.

14. In calculating the amount of the designated income, and, for the purposes of regulation 13, in calculating the amount of the total assessable income,

Calculation.

- (a) no deduction shall be allowed in respect of foreign tax, whether in respect of the same or any other income;

THE LAWS OF BARBADOS

Printed by the Government Printing Department, Bay Street, St. Michael, by the authority of the Government of Barbados

- (b) where the income includes an amount described in paragraph (c) of section 17, that amount shall be increased by the amount of the foreign tax in respect of that amount; and, only in calculating the amount of the designated income, but not in calculating the amount of the total assessable income;
- (c) where the income includes an amount as a dividend and, under the agreement, foreign tax not chargeable directly or by deduction in respect of the dividend is to be taken into account in considering whether any, and, if so, what credit is to be given against income tax in respect of the dividend, that amount shall be increased by the foreign tax not so chargeable which falls to be taken into account in computing the credit.

Deduction. 15. Notwithstanding regulation 14, in calculating the amount of the designated income for the purpose of determining the assessable income, the taxable income and the final amount of tax, but not in calculating the amount of the designated income for the purpose of regulation 13, a deduction shall be allowed of any amount by which the foreign tax in respect of the designated income exceeds the credit therefor.

Total limit. 16. The total credit for foreign tax to be allowed to a person in respect of any income year under all agreements to which this Part extends shall not exceed the total income tax payable by the person on his own behalf for that income year.

Foreign tax not chargeable directly on dividend. 17. (1) Where, in the case of any dividend, foreign tax not chargeable directly or by deduction in respect of the dividend is, under the agreement, to be taken into account in considering whether any, and, if so, what credit is to be given against income tax in respect of the dividend, the foreign tax not so chargeable which is to be taken into account shall be that borne by the company paying the dividend upon the relevant profits.

(2) In determining the relevant profits for the purpose of paragraph (1), the following rules apply:

- (a) the relevant profits are the profits in relation to which the foreign tax is charged and out of which the dividend is paid;

- (b) if the dividend is paid for a specified period, the relevant profits are the profits described in sub-paragraph (a) for the specified period;
- (c) if the dividend is not paid for a specified period but is paid out of specified profits, the relevant profits are the profits described in sub-paragraph (a) that are the specified profits;
- (d) if the dividend is paid neither for a specified period nor out of specified profits, the relevant profits are the profits for the last period for which the accounts of the company were made up and which ended before the dividend became payable and which are the profits described in sub-paragraph (a); and
- (e) if, in a case within sub-paragraph (b) or (d), the total dividend exceeds the profits available for distribution for the periods mentioned in those sub-paragraphs, the relevant profits are the profits described in sub-paragraph (a) that were the profits for the periods mentioned in sub-paragraph (b) or (d), as the case may be, plus so much of the profits available for distribution of preceding periods, other than profits previously distributed or previously treated as relevant for the purposes of this regulation, as is equal to the excess; and, for the purposes of this sub-paragraph, the profits of the most recent preceding period shall first be taken into account, then the profits of the next most recent preceding period, and so on.

18. Where,

Idem.

- (a) the agreement provides in relation to dividends of some classes, but not in relation to dividends of other classes, that foreign tax not chargeable directly or by deduction in respect of dividends is to be taken into account in considering whether any, and if so, what credit is to be given against income tax in respect of the dividends; and
- (b) a dividend is paid which is not of a class in relation to which the agreement so provides,

then, if the dividend is paid to a company which controls, directly or indirectly, not less than one half of the voting power of the company paying the dividend, credit shall be allowed as if the Election.

19. Revoked by S.I. 1975/106.

20. If a person elects that no credit shall be allowed against his income tax for an income year then no credit shall be allowed for that income year.

Claims.

21. Any claim for a credit shall be made not later than 4 years after the end of the relevant income year, and in the event of any dispute as to the amount allowable, the claim shall be subject to objection and appeal in the same manner as an assessment.

Adjust-
tax.

22. Where the amount of any credit is rendered excessive or insufficient by reason of any adjustment of the amount of any tax payable either in Barbados or elsewhere, nothing in the Act limiting the time for making an assessment or a claim for relief shall apply to any assessment or claim to which the adjustment gives rise, being an assessment or claim made not later than 3 years from the time when all such assessments, adjustments and other determinations have been made, whether in Barbados or elsewhere, as are material in determining whether any, and, if so, what credit falls to be given.
